PROJECTS:

Tasker iOS (Swift, Firebase, Figma)

An errand marketplace app for iOS built in Swift and developed with my group during our last semester at CSULB.

- Developed features and user interfaces for: creating an account, standard login, registering/logging in with Google and Facebook, rating a user and confirming payments via a model-view-controller architecture.
- Integrated Firebase and its SDKs for our database of choice and authenticating accounts.
- Utilized Git/GitHub to review code and merge different features from various branches into our main branch.

Solitaire Prime (C++)

Shuffles a deck of cards and continues to take the top card from the deck until the sum of those cards is prime.

- Incorporated object-oriented programming to create deck and card objects.
- Protected header files by using header guards.
- Developed a firm understanding on preprocessor directives such as libraries and previously programmed header files.

Employee Payroll System (Java)

Constructs a payroll system for different types of employees.

- Implemented object-oriented programming, inheritance, polymorphism and interfaces to compute and display a staff's payroll.
- Differentiated between overridden methods and overloaded methods.
- Expanded my knowledge of various data structures and how to incorporate them via polymorphism to produce efficient code.
